One of the main reasons is because I tend to finish most of my landscape work in a wide format (16:9 or wider).. Now with medium format, the obvious way to go about this is to get a technical camera setup from Cambo, Arca Swiss, Alfa etc.. The 80mm LS lens that comes with it is incredibly sharp and is pretty much unparalleled for portraiture.. Shot with the Mamiya 645DF+, Leaf Credo 40 and Mamiya 35mm f/3.5 While the 35mm is great for landscaping, I have been feeling this urge to always try some perspective correction shots.
